Inmatrix Exhibits at California Bankers Association 19th Annual Lenders Conference; Attendees Introduced to Optimist Interactive Commercial Banking Software

Chicago, Ill., March 28, 2006—Inmatrix presented Optimist—its commercial banking software that serves as an internal credit risk management/spreading solution and front-end relationship management tool—at the California Bankers Association (CBA) 19th Annual Lenders Conference. The event was held March 19-22, 2006 at the Renaissance Esmeralda Resort in Indian Wells, Calif., and attended by 240 chief lending officers and chief credit officers of CBA-member banks.

Representing Inmatrix at the Annual Lenders Conference were senior vice presidents, James Tilley and Dale Smorgon.

“The bankers we talked to about Optimist were attracted to the many benefits they could derive by implementing the product in their commercial lending operations,” said Jim Tilley. “Many of them told us they heard about Optimist’s unique features and benefits from fellow CBA members who had already visited our booth and through complimentary comments by existing Inmatrix bank customers. These word-of-mouth referrals contributed significantly to the volume of traffic we received. Our visitors were very impressed with Optimist, especially its potential to build a low risk, highly profitable commercial loan portfolio. ”

Optimist enables banks to make better credit decisions, develop stronger client relationships, and achieve greater profitability. It helps to increase lending efficiencies, enhance relationship management capabilities, and minimize credit risk for a more successful commercial loan portfolio.
